Shippers Protest Mo.-Pac's Action On Switch-Engine

Withdrawal Order Causes Big Shippers to Send Letter to L. W. Baldwin

SLOWS UP SHIPPING

Loss of the Switch Crew Would Delay Clearance of Local Freight

Local shippers protested in a letter to President L. W. Baldwin Friday the withdrawal of the Hope switch-engine crew, claiming that it placed them at a disadvantage with competitive points.

The shippers appealed to Hope Chamber of Commerce for united action in a petition to the railroad company, and a letter was drafted by the Chamber of Commerce and signed by the shippers Thursday night, being forwarded to Mr. Baldwin Friday, the day that the switch-engine was to be withdrawn.

Shippers' Letter

The letter follows:

"We learn that, effective tomorrow (Friday, April 1), the local switching crew of Hope, Arkansas, is to be withdrawn and that switching service for Hope industries and shippers, the majority of which are served directly by the Missouri Pacific, is to be performed by your Nashville branch local freight crew scheduled to reach Hope at 6:45 p. m.

"This would mean that orders, requiring the use of cars, must be over the first day waiting for the placing of the car, then must be over the second day awaiting the switching of such cars from the industry track.

"With respect to cars arriving at Hope, such cars will not be placed until sometime that night, making the shipping schedule available on second day, unless the consignee chooses to incur the expense and trouble of having his shipment trucked from car; and even such trucking is conditioned upon the car being in an accessible place, as it is presumed that all cars arriving at Hope will not be placed upon public team tracks, but only those previously ordered to such track.

"Some shippers are obliged to have light weighed and again weighed after loading to determine both shipping and invoice weights. Certain of these industries require this weighing operation on track scales within the plant. As the proposed switching service would be performed after business hours, such industries would be required to have a weighmaster on hand at night to perform such weighing. Invoices, bank drafts, etc., would necessarily have to wait over until the following day to be completed.

"Space does not permit of setting forth the many difficulties this elimination of necessary and practical switching service will mean to the shippers and carriers are exerting every effort to restore business to normal. We must earnestly urge that a regular switching crew, available during the business hours, be maintained at this point."

The letter is signed by Alex. H. Washburn, president, and Joe R. Floyd, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the following carrier shippers:

Hempstead County Lumber Co., J. W. Strickland & Co., Temple Cotton Oil Co., Southern Ice & Utilities Co., F. L. Williams & Sons Lumber Co., Ivory Handle Co., Union Compress & Warehouse Co., Hope Basket Co., Plunkett-Jarrell Grocer Co., Ritchie Grocer Co., Southern Grain & Produce Co., Hope Building Materials Co., E. M. Williams & Co., Hope Fruit Growers association, and T. S. McDavitt & Co.

Bodcaw to Present Play at Rosston

'The Wild Oats Boy' to Be Given Saturday Night, April 2

A play "The Wild Oats Boy," played by the senior class of the Bodcaw high school will be rendered at Rosston on Saturday night.

The cast is composed of members of the Bodcaw graduating class and faculty members.

The school at Bodcaw closed Thursday afternoon. Three were graduated from the high school department. They were Perry Duke, Mary Louise Rogers and Opal Crain.

Three Mississippi School Teachers Drowned Wed.

TUPELO, Miss.—(P)—Three school teachers were drowned near here Wednesday night as an automobile plunged from a highway atop a levee into a creek.

Harvey Chism, Trenton Bailey and Miss Mamie Kelly were thrown out of the car and all sank in deep water. Three companions were rescued.

Builder Figures in Search

Reported to have established contact with professed kidnappers of the Lindbergh baby, John Hughes Gurtis, wealthy boat-builder, is shown here (seated, at right) as newspaper reporters questioned him in Norfolk, Va. He worked with Rear Admiral Guy H. Burridge and the Rev. H. Dodson Peacock of Norfolk in an attempt to effect the return of the missing child.

Harrisburg Bank Vault Is Looted

$300 in Cash and $300 in Liberty Bonds Are Stolen

HARRISBURG, Ark.—(P)—Safe crackers forced the time lock on the vault of the Bank of Harrisburg, sometime during Thursday night, after burning a hole in the outer door, but they were apparently frightened away before they reached the inner compartment and obtained only $350 in silver.

In their hasty departure they overlooked $300 in liberty bonds, with a check and left behind their acetylene torch, a crow bar and a fireman's case.

Japanese Beaten By Chinese Crowd

Peace Parley Faces Further Trouble as Result of Settlement Attack

SHANGHAI.—(P)—Ill feeling between Chinese and Japanese civilians, stirred by an attack if Chinese refugees on a Japanese man in the heart of the international settlement, threatened further trouble for the peace negotiations Thursday just as they made definite progress.

The Japanese, who were walking down Edward VII street, was seriously injured by a Chinese crowd that set upon him. Apparently only a quick rescue by the French police saved him from death.

Japanese consular officials said they considered the incident a grave illustration that the Japanese here could not walk through the streets without danger of attacks from the Chinese. They planned to protest the attack to the French authorities, under whose jurisdiction it occurred.

Boy Rescued From Mine's Drill Hole at Pitcher, Okla.

Three-Year-Old Child Apparently Uninjured by Experience

HAS SEVERE COLD

X-rays Planned to Determine If Any Bones Were Broken in Fall

MIAMI, Okla.—(P)—After tossing fretfully and telling the nurse frequently, "I feel bad," three-year-old Gerald Collins, who was rescued Thursday night from a drill hole at a mine near Pitcher, Okla., was carefully examined at the hospital here Friday.

Physicians found his head swollen, apparently from bruise and he had a bad cold, but whether this would develop into pneumonia, the doctors could not say.

X-rays were planned later in the day Friday to see if any bones were broken.

In Shaft 12 Hours

FITCHER, Okla.—(P)—Three-year-old Gerald Collins was taken alive and apparently not badly hurt at 8:40 p. m. Thursday from a narrow drill hole at the Mary Ann lead and zinc mine in which he fell nearly 12 hours earlier while playing.

The lad was delivered into his mother's arms by miners and volunteer workers who battered through a stubborn rock ledge to carry out the rescue.

Two doctors went down into a 20-foot shaft sunk beside the drill hole at 8:30 p. m., waited there until the workers dragged the little boy from his rocky prison and carried him up a ladder to safety.

The mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, learned from the side of an ambulance that had been waiting at the scene nearly all day, and wept openly as the little boy's cry for "daddy-mamma" reached them.

The doctors carried the child into the ambulance and the driver quickly opened a way through the throngs of several thousand spectators and hurried to the clinic of the United States bureau of mines here to render any needed first aid.

Democrats Plan to Force Road Action

Determined Attempt to Rush Legislation Will Be Made

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A determined effort by democratic senators to force action on the house bill for a $135,000,000 emergency road construction program is to be made as soon as the pending tariff bill is voted.

The road measure is a democratic project for relieving unemployment by making possible state road construction with federal funds entirely. The bill carries $120,000,000 to match available regular federal aid allocations, the new funds to be repaid by the states gradually out of future federal air money. Some republicans have predicted its veto, if passed.

Sponsors of the bill were confident they could place the bill on the calendar despite the refusal of the republican steering committee to give it preferred place. The entire democratic side, plus many western independent republicans, are counted for considering the bill.

When it comes up Senator Wagner, democrat, N. Y., intends to try amending it to add his $375,000,000 direct relief bill. This, similar to the La Follette-Costigan measure, which the senate defeated, differs in that it provides for reimbursement to the federal government. The money would be used by the states in caring for the unemployed.

Shortage in City Funds At Camden

Auditor Will Place Responsibility When He Reports Monday

CAMDEN.—There is a shortage of approximately $23,000 in the finances of the city of Camden, Auditor W. T. Reynolds announced at an unofficial meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

Reynolds will make his written report to the council Monday night. He has been at work on the city's books since last September. He is auditing the five-year period, beginning September 1, 1926.

J. D. Eley Reported Improved After Accident

J. D. Eley, of McCaskill, who was severely injured several days ago, when he was attacked by a cow at his home, was reported to be resting as comfortably as could be expected Friday noon, according to a statement from attendants at the Cora Donnell hospital of Prescott, where he has been confined since the accident.

Nevada County Man Is Furloughed Thursday

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Alfred Wheelington of Nevada county was granted an indefinite furlough Thursday by Governor Parnell. He was serving a three-year sentence imposed in the Nevada circuit court in January following his conviction on a liquor charge. Milford Ridemour also was given an indefinite furlough. He was convicted of a liquor charge in December, 1931, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary in the Crawford circuit court.

Auto Hurlled 50 Feet in Second Tornado

While the south was clearing up the wreckage of a tornado that swept through four states, another tornado struck a portion of the devastated zone in Alabama, killing seven persons. Here's a freak of the wind at Lawley, Alabama. The wrecked auto above was carried 50 feet and dumped on the spot shown, which a minute before had been occupied by the house of Walker Lawrence. Lawrence and his three-year-old son were killed when the house was carried away. Many homes damaged by the first tornado were demolished when the second big wind struck five days later.

Adult Leadership, Need of Schools

Miss Bery Henry, City Superintendent, Addresses Rotary Club

The greatest problem confronting modern education is to find adult leaders who will follow up school activities with an organized system of supervision, said Miss Bery Henry, Hope city superintendent, who addressed the Rotary club at its luncheon Friday in Hotel Barlow.

The Hope schools operate under what is known as the platoon system, Miss Henry told the club. She described this as departmentalized, recitation, in which the study of geography is correlated to other studies such as reading and writing.

"The old method of recitation has been discarded," she said, "and the whole purpose now is to fit the student's knowledge together so he will have an accurate conception of this complex modern world."

The platoon system is started in the fourth grade, and is carried over from the grades to the high school. "In the high school we carry it on with the aid of 18 clubs having extra-curricular activities," said Miss Henry. "Every student must belong to at least one club."

Miss Henry said there was a pressing need for adult leaders in the outside work as Boy Scout and playground activities. She advocated the employment of a boys' councilor, and said he ought to be paid by the city government, as the boys of today are the citizens of tomorrow.

The city superintendent called attention to the fact that Hope High School's system is working out satisfactorily, in that 38 former local students are at present enrolled in universities and colleges, some of the Hope boys and girls being candidates for graduation with highest honors.

Music at the Rotary luncheon was directed by Mrs. Ward Dabney, who entertained also with solo numbers that were well received.

The program was presented by Dr. W. R. Anderson for the program committee.

Negro School to Hold 'Stunt Night'

Program to Be Held at 7:30 Friday Night at School Building

Members of the faculty of the negro high school of Hope announce a "stunt night" to be held in the auditorium of the school Friday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Students and members of the faculty will participate in the stunts. A large attendance is expected.

Officers Find Owner of Cafe Shot to Death

COFFEYSVILLE, Kan.—(P)—Nicholas Theoclitous, 59, restaurant owner recently charged with receiving stolen property, was found shot to death in his place of business at 4 a. m. Thursday.

Theoclitous and his partner, Stelos G. Vakas, were arrested after officers had searched their sleeping rooms and recovered money and securities valued at $28,000, which officers said had been hoarded.

The restaurant men were said by officers to have named seven men from whom they had purchased goods which, officers said, had been stolen.

Bulletins

KANE, Penn.—(P)—Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, who attained nationwide note in 1919 by removing his own appendix and who recently performed a second operation on himself for hernia, died Friday. He was 72 years of age.

HOPEWELL, N. J.—State Police announced Friday that Major Schoeffel, assistant to Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, called from Europe a week ago in connection with the search for the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The House Friday completed amendments to a new revenue bill estimated to raise a billion forty nine million dollars and prepared for separate votes on several items before finally passing it.

Tunnel Is Found Under Building

Four Men Arrested as Shaft 45 Feet Long Is Discovered

ABILENE, Tex.—(P)—Discovery of a tunnel 45 feet long near a bank here has led to the arrest of four young men, one a former star football player at Abilene high school and a star in 1930 on the Southern California football squad.

Charges of conspiracy to burglarize the Citizens' National Bank were filed here Thursday against four young men. The men charged are Rupert (Butcher) Black, graduate of Abilene high and a tackle on the Eagle football team of 1927-1928; Edwin A. Rice, Malcolm W. Foster, a half brother of Rupert, and E. Oliver Black, a cousin.

Last Sunday officers observed a new tenant in a vacant building near the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank had painted the windows of the place, and they set up a guard.

Meanwhile, they learned windows in a vacant concrete structure near the Citizens' National Bank had been given similar treatment. Wednesday they entered the concrete building and found two men, one the former football star, and the tunnel.

The tunnel led from the concrete building under buildings and about eight feet north of the Citizens' National Bank Building's porch line. It was about seven feet below the street level.

The men said they had been hired by another person, whose name they gave, to dig the tunnel. They said they were told it would be used as a liquor cache. They explained they had been digging about two weeks, trucking the dirt away.

Two other youths found with the truck were arrested.

Bank Robbers' Arrest Is Expected in Texas

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—Police here announced Thursday they expected the arrest in Laredo, Tex., shortly, of Charles Harvey, wanted in Racine, Wis., for the theft of $37,000 from the American Trades and Savings Bank, where he was employed as a teller. They were in communication with Laredo authorities.

Ralph Baughard, 28, was arrested here Wednesday with $10,806 in cash in his possession, which he said was part of the plunder. Baughard said he had no part in the theft, Harvey splitting the money with him after taking it from the bank. He said they drove west in an automobile, spending money freely, and separated in Texas.

Federal Inquiry in Coal Fields Asked

Students Ejected From Kentucky Mining Area, Protest to Senators

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Affirming charges of a "reign of terror and starvation" in the Kentucky coal fields, spokesmen for a number of Eastern college students ejected from that state Thursday pressed before a group of senators for a federal investigation.

As an answer to their declaration they had been prevented by force from making the inquiry they set out for, Senator Logan, democrat, Kentucky, told them he had been advised that any college which desired could send students into Kentucky to investigate.

Rob Hall of Columbia University, leader of the students, headed the delegation that appeared before the senate, including Costigan, democrat, Colorado, co-author with Cutting, republican, New Mexico, of a resolution for a senatorial inquiry, and Copeland, democrat, New York.

W. B. Smith, attorney of Bell county, Kentucky, and a group of deputy sheriffs and a crowd of about 250 met the students at Cumberland Gap, where they entered the state, Hall said, and asked them to go back. The students declined, he continued, and told Smith their object was to study "the conflict in the Kentucky mine fields."

He added that "here the miners charge a reign of terror exists and that starvation is the level of living," continuing with the remark he "felt these charges are true."

"We were not able to make the investigation because of the illegal acts of officials, who forcibly prevented us," Hall said, urging a federal investigation on these grounds:

Actions of officials; violations of constitutional rights; actions of coal mine operators and the consequences of the three on the miners.

March Circulation Records Show Gain

Month Shows 5 Per Cent Gain Over Proceeds of February

Another record was hung up by the subscription department of the Hope Star for March. Cash income from subscriptions of people living within the Hope trade territory, but outside the city of Hope, surpassed any previous month in the history of this newspaper. The previous record was in February of this year. However, cash income from this source showed a net gain in March of 5 per cent over the February figures.

All of these people get the Hope Star by mail, except for one home delivery route in Prescott. The mail rate of the paper happens to be the lowest of any daily newspaper in Arkansas, it is understood. Conforming to the recent postal regulations, no papers are mailed by the Hope Star unless they are paid for. Twice as many people subscribe to The Hope Star in the trade territory as do in Hope.

Subscriptions from all sources in March were exceeded only once in this history of the Hope Star. That was in February of this year.

State Central Body For Uninstructed Group at Chicago

Proposal of State Meeting for Selection of Delegates Rejected

SEEK TO CHANGE LAW

Senators Caraway, Robinson and Gov. Farnell Are Nominated

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The State Central Committee of the Arkansas United Farmers' association, on record as in favor of an instructed delegation to the National Convention in Chicago, Thursday rejected a proposal for a state convention to select Arkansas delegates.

By the same action, with a vote of 28 to 5, the committee decided to proceed with the election of delegates and memorialize the next legislature to change the law and make provision for the election of delegates to the future of the state primary election.

The committee decided to select eight delegates at large, four men and four women, with half a vote each, and two delegates from each of the seven congressional districts, with full vote each and alternates in each district.

Senators Caraway and Robinson, Governor Farnell, were named as delegates at large, and the committee Friday morning.

Brooks Hays urged state or district conventions for the selection of delegates, contending that the present method was undemocratic.

It was argued in favor of the convention plan, that the people's voice in the selection of Smith, 1928.

W. S. Atkins of Hope, member of the committee, declared that this was the people's choice.

Albert H. Vestal of Indiana Dies

Republican Leader in the House of Representatives Ill Two Days

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Representative Albert H. Vestal of Indiana, Republican whip of the house, died today at a naval hospital.

Two days ago Vestal collapsed and was sent to the hospital.

His condition had been reported as improving.

Vestal, 57 years of age, was elected to the sixty-fifth congress from the Eighth Indiana district and served continuously.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Houses Deadlocked Over Refunding Bill

House Passes Bill Reducing Automobile and Truck License Fees

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Deadlocked over a bond refunding question the two houses of the legislature voted by a concurrent resolution to send the whole matter before a conference committee, which was instructed to report back with a new bill at the earliest moment.

The House passed by a vote of 37 to 4 a bill by Senator Kinney, to lower the automobile and truck license fees by approximately 50 per cent, but many members conceded and Speaker Neal warned that the bill is unconstitutional and probably will do nothing more than to confuse the public.

D. M. Kent Offers as Road Overseer

Bodcaw Township Man in Race for Road Job in That District

D. M. (Monroe) Kent, of Paines, Route 2, Bodcaw township, Friday announced his candidacy in the columns of the Hope Star for road overseer of this township in which he was born and reared.

Mr. Kent is well known in Bodcaw township. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kent and is considered as one of the most successful farmers in that section of the county.

He is well qualified to fill the position as road overseer, should he be elected to that position at the August primary election.

"Good Times Or Bad"

"Good time or bad—there's always a market for smart, distinctive merchandise at fair prices. That's what we believe. Consequently our customers have not been inconvenienced by any hand-to-mouth buying policy on the part of this store. We have the goods."

"Our prices have followed commodity markets, but we have not succumbed to the panicky practice of selling price and nothing else. For more than ten years people have looked to us for good things at reasonable prices, and they're finding them here today, in 1932, just as they did in 1922."

"All the luxury grades that so many people prize are available at Gorham & Gosnell's. No reason for us to say 'we don't carry them.' No necessity to 'special order' them. We have them in stock."

"We believe that the great majority of educated Americans will always want quality merchandise, we believe that they see the economy of buying quality merchandise, we believe that they approve our policy of maintaining this as a quality store."

"Everybody is sick to death of 'cheap' things and is relieved to find one store that emphasizes fashion and quality—it is gratifying to shop where assortments are so complete, and pleasant to shop where the atmosphere is so friendly and informal—we realize that, come what may, it is necessary that men be clothed, and that most of them prefer to be clothed smartly!"

As evidence of our faith in the preference of the public to know quality and full value for the money, we handle only standard merchandise such as:

KUDDERMAN'S CLOTHES
WILSON'S CLOTHES

BRUNNEN BOOKS TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, who lives with her AUNT JESSIE on Chicago's west side, is learning shorthand at a downtown business school. ROBERT DUNBAR, heir to the Dunbar fortune, is a student at the same school. Susan has little glory, since her aunt objects to her having callers. At a neighborly party the girl meets a dark, moody young man named BEN LAMPMAN. He seems attracted to her, and escorts her home. The next day she collides with young Dunbar in the elevator at school. He asks her to lunch with him. Susan feels too shabby for the restaurant he suggests but he insists on her coming.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER III

AFTER the glare of the street the dim coolness of the big restaurant was almost startling.

Young Dunbar knew the maître d'hôtel. That dignitary was all smiles for the heir to the Dunbar millions. He found them a small, cozy table by a window and lingered attentively, bringing the menu himself.

"Now, tell me," said Susan's host, smiling across the table at her when the order had been given. "Tell me what you're doing in this business sweatshop of ours."

Susan wondered why young men always seemed to assume that girls went in for business as a whim. Seriously she said, "I've got to earn my living."

Just why this answer should have abashed the young man she couldn't understand. He red-faced.

"Sorry. That was a dumb question. Just wondered"—here he blushed more than ever—"just wondered why a girl as pretty as you shouldn't be in pictures or on the stage."

Susan buttered a roll. "Poor girls have to go in for safer jobs," she said sententiously. She was echoing Aunt Jessie quite unconsciously. "Besides, you know Hollywood is filled with girls out of jobs. They can't all be stars."

The waiter intruded with half a dozen small silver dishes mysteriously hooded. Demurely Susan permitted herself to be served. Breadstuffs and champignons, creamed spinach, little golden potato balls—this food was not even distantly related to the fare Aunt Jessie served at the white kitchen table at home.

SUSAN refused an ice and a cigarette and sipped her coffee with a pleasant sense of well being. "Why are you at Block's?" she wondered lazily as young Mr. Dunbar signed the check and slipped some silver on the tray. "The father's fool notion," she

She settled down to an evening of study.

Helen Marshall made big eyes at Susan as she tripped into the room and took her seat.

"New bye friend?" she mouthed under cover of a notebook. Susan said, "Hush! She's beginning to dictate." Firmly she began to set down in signs and symbols the inevitable beginning. "Yours of the 14th instant at hand and contents noted."

THE next day Miss Allen called Susan to her desk.

Faith, Freedom and Politics

Editor The Star: Re a full-page ad in your paper dated the 28th instant, stressing faith and confidence in your city and community, sponsored by both banks and most of your leading business enterprises—

I heartily endorse every word of it, but think it a lot of "ballyhoo" under existing conditions, for faith in reciprocity is worthless. To illustrate, a few days ago there was a man that owns a home, a good team, enough equipment to "get by" with plenty of feed, food in plenty for his family except flour and sugar, three good cows and hogs to make his meat, who planned to "get by" without any help from the proceeds of his radish crop.

But the freeze killed his radishes and he applied to the banks for the loan of $30 to pay his taxes, offering as security a mortgage on $150 worth of stuff. Both banks turned him down. He went home, gathered up things he really needed and sold them at cut-throat prices in an effort to raise his money, and still lacked $15 having enough.

He is a substantial citizen of Hope as security and again went to the banks. One turned him down because he was not their customer, and the other because his security was not a customer. And that was that. O consistency, consistency, where art thou?

You are "riding" the county judges, especially Judge Higginson, and getting properly, I think. But still there is strong argument in their favor. They know from past experience that the money will be stowed to the four winds anyway and if they can get some of it in their own pockets and in the pockets of their friends they are that much to the good and the higher-ups have that much less to fight over.

The legislature is for the second time in special session, and it seems that the dying gasps of the goose that is laying the golden egg have awakened them to some extent. But instead of slashing the knot that is choking it, with the knife that Governor Parnell offered them, they are frantically searching for a way to untie the knot, in order to save the string I suppose.

You and all editors lay the blame at the voters' door, and I suppose we are to blame; but how can we vote for men that will straighten things out if we can't get such men to run for office? The men we need have not the time or money to make a race for office unless they are sure of success.

I think Hempstead county is well represented as far as honesty is concerned, but on the aggressive enough to be heard, and they run the rigger over the other, so what can we do?

The only people that have the power to better conditions are the ones that are profiting from said conditions. Instead of simplifying the laws they constantly endeavor to make them more vague and complicated, because a large percentage of them are lawyers, and we know that lawyers make their living by interpreting the laws and therefore thrive on chaos.

Now, Mr. Washburn, if I have wearied you I am sorry, because I had to blow off a little or "bust." I admire you and your stand for the right, and I believe you will keep up the good work until you have your readers thinking independently and to come purpose. Your friend,

WEEKLY FARM LETTER

By EARY PAGE
Commissioner of Agriculture

Many million of dollars of government money have been spent for the publication of Farmers' Bulletins issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A list of 750 has been printed giving the title and subject. The list covers a wide range of farm information, crop information and general information prepared for the benefit of the farmers. Four-fifths of these bulletins are allotted to the members of Congress and U. S. Senators, who can mail them out without postage. I would like for the farmers of Arkansas to obtain their full share of benefits from these bulletins, and the best way for them to obtain it is to make their own selections and obtain the bulletins that will serve them best. This is better than an indiscriminate distribution by the Congressmen and Senators. Accordingly, I suggest to all farmers that they write to their Congressman or U. S. Senator for a list of Farmers' Bulletins, and when it is received make a selection of all that may be useful or of interest, check the numbers, and write again, giving the numbers or enclosing the list as checked and ask to have the bulletins sent. In this way you will be helping your Congressman to serve you better and more systematically. Write the Congressman who repre-

Tale of Paper Hanger Is Branded as Absurd About Lindbergh Case

BILLINGS, Mont.—A reported statement of William Fraener, painter and paper hanger at Seattle, that he had been hired to paint the interior of the airplane in which Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was held as a prisoner by Earl Starnes, is branded as absurd by Sheriff E. J. Birely.

The sheriff and E. J. Birely, who once employed Fraener here, and Fraener was a former soldier, have been to delusions of grandeur and to go off on strange tangents.

Sheriff's records show Fraener was arrested in 1930 after attempting to threaten Snook with a pistol in an argument over wages.

Fraener told Seattle's detective Sunday he had rejected a proposal in Billings last June that he participate in the kidnapping with two men he named as Ed Johnson and Frank Thompson.

She settled down to an evening of study.

Susan whispered, "Well, do it again—some time," she told her.

Heleen Marshall made big eyes at Susan as she tripped into the room and took her seat.

"Now, by friend?" she mouthed under cover of a notebook. Susan said, "Hush!" She's beginning to dictate. "Firmly she began to get down in signs and symbols the inevitable beginning. 'Yours of the 14th instant at hand and contents noted'."

The next day, Miss Allen called Susan to her desk.

"You're to go into the advanced class next Monday," she said. "Your work shows improvement. Miss Carey. Try to keep it up."

Susan could scarcely believe her ears and eyes. The sardonic Miss Allen had actually smiled at her. After weeks of subtle persecution, this was astonishing.

"Thank you!" she murmured. As she returned to her seat she saw Robert Dunbar smiling at her encouragingly. Like a flash came the thought—he had had something to do with this! Heleen Marshall had whispered that Dunbar senior was one of the stockholders in the Block corporation and now Susan believed it.

The prospect of going into the advanced class was a job in itself. Susan could scarcely believe it.

Aunt Jessie listened to the great news that night in this lipped silence. Trust Aunt Jessie not to gush over Susan's luck. She believed in doing the glimmer of self esteem whenever it showed a flare. She only said, "Well, miss, I hope you appreciate what I've done for you and repay me by being modest and well-behaved and dutiful."

Susan gulped. Somehow she had expected more enthusiasm. She said, meekly, "I'll do my best."

She settled down to an evening of study after the supper dishes were done. Aunt Jessie came into the living room, neatly hatted and gloved and wearing her best black dress.

"I'm going to prayer meeting," Aunt Jessie said. "I hate to leave you alone but I'll be back by nine."

Susan tapped her book. "I'll be busy," she returned. "Don't worry about me."

Aunt Jessie unbent enough to smile. "That's right," she said. "I'm glad to see you're settling down in a serious way—at last." She couldn't help putting the little sting into the last few words. That was her way.

After she had slammed the front door the house seemed uncommonly quiet. Even the Shaughnessy children across the way weren't making their usual evening racket. The late May evening was still and fragrant as Susan sat in the darkening room poring over shorthand symbols.

As the clock struck eight, she slammed the book shut with vigor. Suddenly it seemed to her an awful thing to be 19 and vigorous and shut up between walls on a spring night when life pulsed all around her.

She went out on the little porch and sat down in the Boston rocker. Bump, bump, back and forth she rocked. Across the way Millie Shaughnessy swung down the steps with her "intended," as Aunt Jessie called him. Millie wore a black and white printed frock that screamed for notice and her hair was flamboyantly red.

Millie called across at Susan, "What are you doing?"

Susan waved. Millie was 20 and a telephone operator. She had picked as her husband-to-be a burly young man with unstanding red hair and a million freckles. He was a broker's clerk and looked like a prize fighter. Millie was the one who had said to Susan a short while before, "What d'you want to learn stenography for? You'll be getting married one of these days. Then what use'll it be to you?"

Everyone thought Susan would be getting married. But how? And to whom? All the girls she knew, on the hunt quietly or openly for husbands, had opportunities to meet and know men. Susan did not. She couldn't invite boys to Aunt Jessie's house because Aunt Jessie disliked, distrusted men. The older woman hadn't, as she said herself, a good word for the lot of them.

Susan felt lonely as she rocked. It wasn't that she envied Millie Shaughnessy her young man. He was not the sort of hero about whom one could spin glamorous dreams. Still he was somebody. Somebody to telephone and to go places with. Someone to tell a girl she was pretty and that was a becoming hat and to ask what was that new perfume she was using?

There was no use thinking about it. Without some male as a foil a woman was simply wasted. She didn't exist. Thus Susan's dismal thoughts.

Dusk deepened and the girl felt so discouraged that a little trickle of tear drops disturbed the creamy surface of her cheek. She was so absorbed in her reflections that she neither heard the creak of the bottom step nor observed the arrival of the saturnine young man who approached.

"Good evening," a voice muttered throatily.

Susan gasped. She looked up, startled, and saw the dark, moody face of Ben Lampman, her cousin's cavalier of the night of Rosa Milton's party.

"How—I mean hello," she stammered.

"I thought I'd drop in and see how you were getting along," said her caller, looking embarrassed.

"That was kind of you," Susan said. "She began to feel rather frightened. Suppose Aunt Jessie should turn up the corner? She didn't dare ask him to sit down."

"Wondered it—uh—you'd like to go to the movies," observed Lampman shyly. "There's a Nancy Carroll picture over at the Logan Square."

"I'm sorry but I—," began Susan. Then she stopped. The idea came to her like a flash. Aunt Jessie would probably never know. She said, "Wait a minute," and dashed into the house. Frantically she rummaged for paper and pencil. She wrote, "Aunt Jessie, have gone over to Mary Ruth's. Back at 11." She put the key under the mat and joined Ben Lampman on the third step.

"I've never seen Nancy Carroll," she told that rather flustered young man.

Susan began to take quick firm steps. How awful it would be if they met Aunt Jessie on the way! (To Be Continued)

Baby Girl Rides Tornado; Found Miles From Home

Lloyd Butler, 33, farmer living near Birmingham, Ala., was fighting to keep the door closed when the tornado that devastated a wide stretch through four southern states, swooped out of the south. His wife, holding Jewel, 22-month-old baby, with their other two small daughters clinging to her skirts, was behind. Then the house collapsed. That's the last thing Butler remembers. Puzzled farmers found Jewel nearly 10 miles away. They named her the "orphan of the storm." But a relative recognized the baby and got word to the parents who were in the hospital. The two other daughters were killed. How Jewel rode the storm remains a mystery. Picture shows Jewel, battered but cheerful, with the Butlers. They were unable to attend funeral services for the two girls.

"Where do you get that stuff?" is no longer a rebuke, but the sign of a budding friendship.

Conditions are so tough these days we understand even the Siamese Twins are having a hard time making ends meet.

"Let's make whoopee."

"Now, too much trouble. Let's buy it."

"My good man, does this dog possess a family tree?"

"Oh, no madam—he has no particular tree."

"What's the matter with Bill?"

"Too cancelled. The other day he bought a book called 'What Two Million Women Want' just to see if they spelled his name right."

Legislators Will Seek Office Again

Poll Shows Majority Solons Will Be Candidates to Succeed Selves

At least 84 members of the present

HOW DOES YOUR HOUSE LOOK?

Is it angry because you haven't protected it with the necessary insurance? Make your house and everyone in it happy. Our insurance does the trick.

House of Representatives are candidates to succeed themselves this year, according to a poll made during the special session. Twelve others were probable candidates, but undecided, at the time the poll was taken while 18 members said they will not seek re-election. But three of the members would say positively that they are going to retire from politics with the expiration of their terms. Four members, Wheatley of Craighead, Lawrence of Izard, Levine of Jefferson and Chilton of Franklin, will run for the state senate in the coming primary. Kitchens of Columbia will run for Congress, Smith of Fulton and Bullock of Benton will run for county judge of their respective counties. Caffell of Faulkner and Spinks of Crawford are candidates for prosecuting attorney, Danley of Pope will run for sheriff and Cannon of Hempstead said he is a candidate for United States Senator.

Of the 18 senators whose terms expire this year, five are candidates for re-election, five are undecided, five will not seek re-election, and there is one vacancy. Of the five not seeking re-election, two will retire from politics while the other three will seek other offices.

Pioneer Texas Oil Man to Prospect in Nevada

AMARILLO, Texas.—(AP)—W. H. Holmes, pioneer in developing Panhandle oil and gas fields, will explore an 84,000-acre tract in Nevada, consisting mainly of government permits. Holdings of the Nevada Oil and Gas company have been turned over to Holmes for the tests, the first of which will be made about 30 miles northwest of Boulder dam.

Holmes, who drilled the first producing well in the Panhandle, has also been active in Texas politics, at one time being the Republican candidate for governor.

Havana Communists who held up a radio station and forced employees to let one of their number speak for six minutes neglected one point. They didn't have anybody to hold guns on the listeners.

Missouri Pacific Pays $32,000 Tax

Railroad Contributes Enormous Part of Hempstead Co. Revenue

Tax payments totaling $31,893.30 were made by the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company into the general revenue fund of Hempstead County, Ark., during 1933, a recent announcement stated.

The same announcement states that the Missouri Pacific made payments into the general revenues of the City of Little Rock and 51 counties in Arkansas for the same period totaling $1,496,224.04.

The largest payment in the state for this period was $168,679.32 to Pulaski county. The next largest payment to any county in the state was $89,424.39 in Desha. In the City of Little Rock and 38 of the 51 counties in which the Missouri Pacific pays taxes in Arkansas, the taxes amount to in excess of $15,000.00 each and in only eight of the counties did the amount total less than $10,000.00. These latter counties are those in which the Missouri Pacific has only a very short mileage of track. They are Arkansas, Bradley, Grant, Howard, Logan, Montgomery, Pike and Randolph. There are 29 counties in which the Missouri Pacific Railroad's tax payments annually amount to more than $20,000.00 and there are 15 counties in each of which tax payments amount to more than $30,000.00 per year, and five counties in each of which tax payments amount to more than $50,000.00.

It is believed that in more than half of the counties of the state the Missouri Pacific is the largest single taxpayer within those counties.

Celebrate 30th Anniversary This Month

J. C. Penney Company grows from tiny single unit in western mining town to largest organization of its kind in the world. (1) Mr. J. C. Penney, Founder. (2) Mr. E. C. Sams, President of the organization. (3) Mother Store—1902. (4) Latest and largest of the 1459 J. C. Penney Company Department Stores.

Thursday, April 14th was the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the J. C. Penney Company, that being the date in 1902 when Mr. Penney opened the store in the mining town of Kemmerer, Wyoming, which ultimately became the mother store of an organization now covering every state in the Union.

Mr. Penney's original invested capital was $200, which, together with his unsecured note for $1500, bought for him a one-third interest in the one room shop operated under the name "Golden Rule Store." The other two-thirds interest was owned by Johnson & Callahan with headquarters in Evanston, Wyoming.

The plan of allowing store managers to acquire an interest in the stores they operated was a growing one in the West at that time. It was largely due to the fact that there was little money.

As a partner, a manager was likely to exert himself more than as an employee, and he also became responsible for his share of the operating expenses of the store.

Early success was close to Kemmerer and was largely in the states of Utah, Colorado and Idaho.

In 1907, Mr. Penney acquired full ownership of three stores in the Johnson & Callahan group and immediately set his avowed plan of operation into effect.

The plan was simple in its objects. It put the possibility of a store partnership before every male associate in the company. The man who thought his own ability could qualify got a store of his own. In modified form, the same general plan is still working today, 30 years later.

Despite the fact that this plan was at one time termed too altruistic to admit of success by bankers, it has resulted in a growth at a more rapid rate than has been shown by any like enterprise in this country.

Each original dollar of the $500 Mr. Penney put into the project thirty years ago turned over 375,000 times last year.

In the first ten years, between 1902 and 1912, store units increased to 34 as men were attracted by the promise of partnership and new and efficient managerial material was developed.

Total sales at the close of 1912, for the year, were slightly over $2,600,000. The next ten year period carried the J. C. Penney Company name from the Western States as far east as Iowa and south through Texas and into the Southeastern states.

In 1914, Earl Corder Sams, one of the first men to start working with Mr. Penney in Kemmerer, was chosen president to succeed the founder, who wanted to pass the reins over to other hands than his own.

Under Mr. Sams' direction the moves in expansion went on rapidly, and at the end of the first twenty years in business, total sales for 1922 were more than $19,000,000.00 and there were 371 stores carrying the name of the company.

Between 1922 and 1927, which marked the twenty-fifth anniversary year, stores had increased to 885 and sales for 1927 were $150,000,000.

In general, the expansion of the company in its first twenty-five years of growth, had been among the smaller cities and towns.

This policy has not been changed, but in the last few years an additional field of expansion was entered in the larger cities and in major locations.

Portland, Oregon; Spokane, Wash.; Oakland, Calif.; St. Louis, Mo.; Denver, Colo.; Tulsa, Okla.; one after another was added to the list and in mid-summer 1931, the largest store yet to be opened appeared in Seattle, Wash.

In 1931 sales were close to $180,000,000 and the organization had undisputedly won its position as the largest single distributor of dry goods, clothing, and footwear, directly over the counter.

Coccidiosis Can Now Be Controlled

Raise All Young Chicks on Clean Ground and Away From Old Birds

Coccidiosis, a common disease of young chicks, is caused by a small microscopic parasite. This parasite, when picked up from infested soil, works into the walls of the intestines, principally in the blind pouches. The injury done to the walls of the blind pouches causes them to bleed and they are usually filled with blood. The droppings of the chicks are usually bloody and often the feathers around the vent are blood stained.

Rearing chicks on clean ground, away from the old stock will help prevent this disease, states G. W. Knox, Jr., Extension poultryman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. Grass is preferred as chick range. If it is impossible to move the brooder house to clean ground, a sunporch can be constructed on the front of the house and the chicks can be raised off the ground until they are

Auntie Blossom's Column

A Column Dedicated to the Children of Hope and Members of Sanger Kiddies Club

Dear Children:

This Saturday at 1 o'clock we ought to have the largest crowd that has ever attended the Kiddies club, and I tell you why. We are going to have two western feature pictures. Don't that sound great? And best of all one of these westerns is Ken Maynard in his latest picture "The Sunset Trail," while the other one is Walter Huston in the man who made "Abraham Lincoln" playing in his latest picture "Law and Order." It is the story of a man who a long time ago, when the West was first explored, was sent into a small western town as the sheriff and it tells of the great amount of trouble he had in establishing "law and order," for the United States government whom he represented. It is thrilling from the start to the finish and I know every boy and girl will enjoy it a great deal.

The vaudeville this week will be a play presented by two classes from the Paisley school. The classes rehearsed on the stage last night and you can take my word that it certainly is a play every child in Hope will enjoy.

In addition to the vaudeville we are going to play games and have a singing contest. Then too every boy and girl will get a souvenir, after the show is over. Now don't forget we want all the boys and girls in Hope to attend this club meeting Saturday at 1 o'clock, because you will have a real good time. So long till Saturday.

Auntie Blossom.

May Go to Jail for Shaking Fist at Probers

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The petulance of William J. Flynn, Bronx public works commissioner, and his floundering in the faces of the Hofstadter investigating commission may cost him 30 days in jail for contempt, Supreme Court Justice John Ford indicated Tuesday. But whether Flynn is actually sent to jail, as Samuel Seabury, the committee's counsel demanded, or whether he is merely admonished and told to answer the committee's questions as to how he piled up a $600,000 fortune on a $12,000 a year, Flynn now rests under a conviction for contempt.

14 weeks old. Care should be taken not to bring infested soil into the brooder house.

Should an outbreak of coccidiosis occur, the California milk formula should be fed. This mixture is 40 pounds dried milk, 10 pounds wheat bran, 30 pounds yellow cornmeal, and 20 pounds ground oats.

In addition to feeding this formula, the litter in the brooder house should be changed every second day. The chicks should be confined to the house and sun-porch.

Through strict sanitation, feeding the milk formula, and confining the chicks to the house, this disease can be brought under control.

Pastel Shade Now Avenue's Favorite

"Peachskin" Fabric Appropriate for Spring and Summer Suits

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Pastel-colored suits that will be just as appropriate for summer wear as for late spring are being spotted on the avenue.

Borrowing their tailored smartness from the English, they feature long top-coats of the same material which can be worn over the short-jacketed ensemble or chiller days. A new fabric, soft and woolly surfaced and called "peachskin," is used for several models, one of which is turquoise.

Black satin coat dress ensembles calling attention. One of these, favored by matronly types, has a three-quarter length coat, fitted in a little at the waist, but unbelted. Another more youthful version has a loose bolero jacket.

Black or navy kid opera pumps with matching gloves are trimmed with narrow bands of white and red and, while decorative, are restrained in design.

One of the newest wraps, mer form, wears a tiny high collar, cape of white net and pleated ruffles of the same material. Bolero jackets and capes made of clinging lace in white and yellow.

Leaf green lace is used to trim the most attractive of the new pale pinkish white. Scarves, which, laundered fully and does not need to be featured in gay little blouses with the boyish street suit station. It is also used for beach pajamas and robes. It is narrow stripes—red, blue, yellow, with white.

Strange Hybrids From Iowa Melon

WATERLOO, Iowa.—(AP)—A melon farm near this city, Johnston has produced a pale vegetable hybrids that are roughly satisfactory as to size and flavor.

One is of the size and shape of a small pumpkin, and is said to be one-fourth watermelon, fourth pumpkin and one-half melon.

The other has the appearance of a small squash and the shape of an acorn. Its ancestors were sweet potato, muskmelon and
